Packing and Shipping:

Packaging and Shipping: Scaffolding Ladders

Scaffolding ladders are shipped in heavy-duty cardboard boxes, which are designed to provide protection from damage during transit. The ladders are carefully secured within the box with bubble wrap or foam packaging to ensure they do not move around in transit. The boxes are then sealed with packing tape, and labeled with the recipient's address and a barcode for tracking.
The boxes are then loaded onto pallets and secured with shrink wrap. The pallets are then loaded onto a truck and shipped to the recipient's address. Once the pallets arrive at their destination, they are unloaded and the individual boxes are removed and delivered to the recipient.
